

Constellation Advisers, LLC Expands Its New York City Headquarters by Relocating to Columbus Circle

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE – New York, NY (October 29, 2020) – Constellation Advisers, LLC (“Constellation”), a leading outsourced and co-sourced service provider to the investment management industry, announced that it has completed the move of its New York City headquarters to a larger space in a prestigious location at Columbus Circle. Constellation has been expanding its footprint nationwide over the past several years by opening strategic offices around the country to better serve its clients. Constellation’s New York City office is now located at 250 West 57th Street.

“We are thrilled to relocate our headquarters to our new premier location at Columbus Circle. We looked at several new office options and a central location was certainly a key factor for us. The considerably larger space will better accommodate our growing team as we continue to invest in top-tier talent to serve our expanding global client base,” said Greg Farrington, Constellation’s President.

The new office space is approximately 26,000 square feet, which makes it almost double the size of the previous office. The floor plan can house up to 200 employees, and the additional space will allow Constellation to accommodate its steady growth. As the firm continues to expand and serve an ever increasing client base, Constellation remains dedicated to delivering institutional-level service with the same client tailored solutions for which it has become known.

“This move represents a significant milestone for Constellation that is a natural progression based on years of strategic planning. As the largest provider of accounting and CFO, middle and back office, regulatory and compliance, and technology advisory oversight services to the investment management industry in the United States, we have achieved remarkable success. Since founding the firm in 2008, we have offered highly customized solutions and consistently maintained a deep commitment to our clients. Above all, we pride ourselves on providing an unparalleled level of client service and being a trusted advisor to the investment management community,” stated Boris Onefater, Constellation’s CEO.
